3. Proposals for Improvement

a. Publications from Overseas Chinese Communities

The serious prospect of a Communist-dominated China brings into sharp focus the role which overseas Chinese communities can be expected to play in the future. There are more than nine million overseas Chinese, and they comprise a prosperous and influential group in many areas. The political leanings and loyalties of these groups are not quite clear.

25X1C

b. Coordination with the Federal Bureau of Investigation

Inasmuch as the internal security matters within the continental limits of the United States are the responsibility of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, it may reasonably be assumed that this agency conducts some exploitation of the domestic foreign language press.

The Foreign Documents Division has a definite interest in these publications, and it is proposed that arrangements be made to obtain all translations of interest on a continuous basis if such exploitation is conducted.
